

Sen. Douglas Calls For Cloture Action To Halt Filibuster

Civil Rights Proponents 'Wearing Out'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) called Sunday for an effort soon to break up the anti-civil rights filibuster in the Senate.

"They're wearing out," he said.

Douglas told a nationwide TV audience on the NBC program, "College News Conference" that a determined filibuster would be broken by the round-the-clock Senate sessions that were tried all last week and are due to be resumed Monday after a Sunday recess.

Difficult Move

He said a move should be made within two or three days to invoke cloture, the seldom-used Senate rule fixing a time limit on debate. He conceded that getting the two-thirds majority vote needed will be difficult but added: "I think we have a very good chance to win."

Douglas is one of a group of self-styled liberals in both parties pressing for what they consider a stronger bill than the Eisenhower administration sponsored.

He said the bill should be strengthened in three ways:

1. More adequate provision for protecting voting rights.
2. Empowering the attorney general to act on other civil rights under the equal rights provision of the 14th Amendment.
3. Technical and financial assistance in integration where it is attempted but prevented by state action.

Critical Report

Southern Congress members sought wide circulation of a critical analysis of the administration's proposal for court-appointed voting referees.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La.), who made the analysis, called the plan a "sure breeder of racial troubles of untold proportions."

Willis, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, also called the proposal "utterly unconstitutional" and said it could lead to filling the federal jails with "political prisoners" consisting of state officials.

Just how far short the civil rights advocates are of mustering the necessary vote two-thirds majority for cloture was a matter of conjecture.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) said on a television program taped with Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) for Pennsylvania stations that if all senators voted at this time cloture would fall by a margin of 10.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said in an interview he doesn't believe many more than a bare majority of senators would vote for cloture now.

Big Petitions

Sen. Claire Engle (D-Calif.) disclosed Sunday that he is carrying a debate-limiting petition in his pocket. Engle, one of a liberal group of civil rights supporters, said he has more than half a dozen of the 16 signatures necessary to get action on it.

He was dissuaded from offering the petition last week, Engle said, by Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas who thought it was premature. Engle said he thinks he can get the 16 signatures, including those of some Republicans, if he pushes the matter in the next few days.

Generally speaking, the key conservative and Western Democrats seem to want a civil rights bill confined largely to provisions for the protection of Negro voting rights. Such senators as Republican Barry Goldwater (Ariz.) and Norris Cotton (N.H.) have made it clear that's as far as they want to go.

126 Hours

The Senate chamber was dark and silent Sunday for the first time in a week as result of a recess at 5:31 p.m. Saturday that halted more than 125 hours of virtual nonstop talk.

Civil rights will get top billing also in the House this week, with a brief filibuster in prospect. Debate is scheduled there for Thursday, Friday and Saturday and undoubtedly will carry over into the following week.

Under House rules Southerners cannot conduct a prolonged filibuster but they believe they can keep the measure on the floor close to a week. The bill will be considered under rules allowing 15 hours of general discussion, followed by consideration of amendments with each speech limited to five minutes.

Leaders of both sides in the controversy expect a final House vote by Wednesday of next week.

Urban Renewal Aid

Young Drifter Admits Slaying 6 In Holdups

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A poker-faced, red-haired young drifter was quoted Sunday as saying he killed six persons with his 22 pistol in holdups from California to Florida.

Police said Dennis Whitney, 17, arrested at gunpoint near the body of a woman victim, admitted slaying three men before he reached Florida late last month. He is charged with the woman's shooting and is held for investigation in two other Florida murders.

Dade County (Miami) officers said Whitney told them he:

Famously shot Jim Ryan Feb. 12 in a Victorville, Calif., service station holdup that netted $40.

Killed a Negro, Spencer Frazier, 36, an unemployed truck driver, Feb. 20 at Phoenix, Ariz., in the victim's home.

And slew Glen B. Smith, 27, of Tucson, Ariz., in a $104-service station holdup and tossed Smith's body into a washroom.

Investigated Jobs

Whitney, who says he left home at North Hollywood, Calif., and stole a gun, said little at first about the bloody trail of murders.

Asked by a deputy sheriff who captured him, "Are you mad at the world?" He replied "I guess so."

He was brought to Miami, where officers said he admitted killing two service station attendants, after being charged with murder in the kidnap-bludgeon and pistol slaying of Virginia Selby, Saturday.

Earlier, a desperately wounded filling station attendant raised himself in a hospital bed and pointed Whitney out as his assailant of last Wednesday morning.

Jack Beecher, 28, wounded four times in head and body, was confronted with five red-haired youths in his hospital room.

"That's the one—No. 3," he told detectives.

One mark distinguished Whitney from others in the lineup — the bridge of his nose and eyebrow bore deep, scabbed-over wounds he said he got from a hammer Mrs. Selby wielded in defending her car.

Body Found

Whitney, still armed with a revolver, was arrested on a Jupiter Canal bank by officers who said his footprints led from a swampy spot where Mrs. Selby's body was found.

The Miami gas station slayings began one week ago Sunday night when Ken Mezzarano, a former Rhode Islander, was fatally wounded with a pistol bullet in the back of the head. Four hours later —early Monday morning—Arthur Keeler, 53, was slain with pistol shots at a service station farther south. At 3 a.m. Wednesday, Beecher was riddled at his filling station but dragged himself to a telephone to summon aid. He described his assailant as red-haired —the only clue police had except for the fact that each victim was hit with 22 caliber bullets.

Station operators closed early or armed themselves, and police rounded up men and boys for questioning and augmented road patrols in hopes of foiling the robber's next attempt.

Mad At World

Whitney told officers he spent much of his time in inexpensive Miami lodgings and investigated some jobs to which an employment service steered him.

Police said Whitney kidnaped and later killed Mrs. Selby when she surprised him trying to take her car in Miami to leave this area which he felt was getting too hot for him.

Different Interpretations

Differences between Washington and Bonn thinking on Berlin boil down to the interpretation of the three so-called Western concessions offered to the Soviet Union at the end of the 1959 Geneva foreign ministers conference. These were a ceiling on the strength of U.S. British-French troops stationed in West Berlin, a ban on nuclear weapons in the city, and curbing of propaganda activities in both West and East Berlin.

The concessions were offered on condition that the Soviet Union reaffirm the status quo in the city, guaranteeing free access to West Berlin for the Western powers. The nine-week-long conference ended without any practical results.

Weatherman To Check Snow

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vernon T. Houghton Jr., chief river forecaster for the U. S. Weather Bureau here, will begin a 1,200-mile trip Monday to check snow conditions in western Pennsylvania.

Houghton will spend five days in headwater areas of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers investigating such things as snow depth and water content.

He said such information is essential in determining river heights should flood conditions develop.

Suggests Ike See The Kids

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — The Delaware County Daily Times suggests that President Eisenhower make one more trip —so the kids of this country can see him.

In a front page open letter Saturday, the paper suggested an Ike for "Tikes" trip: a leisurely swing around the country even after he leaves office.

"Do our boys and girls the same favor you've done for millions abroad, and at the same time do yourself a favor; see the affection in which you are held by our young," the newspaper said.

Girl, Four, Too Bright For Her Foster Parents

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Combs may lose their foster child because the state says she is too bright for them.

The State Board of Child Welfare, which placed the 4-year-old girl with the Combs, now wants to regain custody.

In custody papers filed recently the board said the Combs are not financially or intellectually capable of developing the "very superior" abilities of the girl, Alice Marie. The state conceded the child appeared happy and well adjusted.

Joseph Alloway, director of the board, said he is interested in having the child adopted by families "offering greater possibilities for the intellectual and cultural development of this outstanding youngster."

Alice, who has an I.Q. of 138 and was reciting nursery rhymes at the age of two, does not know the Combs are not her real parents.

"If they (the state) go through with this, it will be a terrible thing," said Combs, a $120-a-week sheet metal apprentice.

"We love Alice just as much as our own two girls. But I'm not concerned with our own feelings. It's Alice who owns this argument."

The Combs have tried to adopt the child but have been turned down by the state.

They are now appealing the refusal to the Superior Court which hears the case Tuesday.

The state says Combs, 25, and his wife are more interested in watching television than reading books and cannot help Alice maximize her potential.

Film Actors To Strike 7 Studios

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Secret last-minute talks failed to break the deadlock which threatens the first strike in history of actors against seven big movie studios.

The walkout against theatrical productions of the studios is set for 12:01 a.m. Monday. Some say it could mean the end of the major studio system and reduce the industry to a fraction of its old size.

Many of film's most famous names are involved.

Television film production will not be affected.

The Screen Actors Guild called the strike when studios rejected this demand: A share for actors of profits from sale of post-1948 theatrical movies to television.

Writers On Strike

The Writers Guild of America has been on strike against the major studios since Jan. 15 over a similar issue.

An industry spokesman said the strike will idle about 5,000 people at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Columbia, Allied Artists, Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warner Brothers and Walt Disney.

Another 20,000 or more persons in allied businesses may be affected.

Eight films now in production will be halted.

Theatrical film shooting will continue at many independent companies who did not belong to the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers and at Universal-International which has signed a three-year contract with the guild.

Provisions

The U-I pact grants wage increases for day players from $90 to $100 a day — actors have many idle days; a pension and welfare program paid by employer contributions of five per cent of the actors' payroll, and other benefits. It also gives actors a slice of earnings from post-1948 theatrical films sold to television.

Another independent producer—Mickey Rooney's Fryman Enterprises—signed a contract Saturday. As in other independent agreements, the TV demand was granted.

After failure of the latest talks, there were none scheduled Sunday.

Eisenhower Reports On Tour Via Radio-TV Tuesday Night

By STANFORD BRADSHAW
RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE — Puerto Rico (AP) — President Eisenhower will make a radio-television report to the nation Tuesday night on his Latin-American tour.

White House secretary James C. Hagerty announced this Sunday after the President, his hoarse, almost gone, his step bouncy, played 18 holes of golf.

The President will close out his two-week trip at noon Monday and fly back to snowy Washington. The jet flight is expected to take about three hours. The President will land at Andrews Air Force Base.

The 15-minute report on the 15-500-mile trip to four South American nations, Hagerty said, will be carried live at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time by the three major television networks, Columbia, American and Mutual radio net

Lengthen The Odds, Man

Dear Abby: I've got mother-in-law trouble. But not the kind you usually hear of. I am 32 years old and my mother-in-law is in her middle forties.

She kisses me hello and good-bye when I am only going into the next room. She cuddles up to me and wants me to dance with her. And the look in her eye is not maternal. My wife thinks her mother is only kidding. But, Abby, she is NOT kidding. I am afraid to be alone with her. How do I chill off the old lady without starting a family fight?

Fewer Tent Caterpillars Anticipated

HARRISBURG (AP)—There is unlikely to be a large number of Eastern Tent caterpillars in Pennsylvania's forests this year, a group of foresters and scientists were told.

A. T. Drooz, forest entomologist for the State Foresters and Waters Department, said the insects have picked up a fatal virus infection.

Drooz made the comment in informing the group that insect and disease conditions in the forests last year were serious.

He added, however, that various sprays for the white pine weevil are now being tested and are apparently effective and a "most effective" spray has been developed for control of the European pine sawfly.

It still takes two to tango.

Dear Abby: I have an encouraging message for those readers who are married to wife-beaters. Get a nice, big dog. It doesn't have to be pedigreed. Any hound will do as long as he's intelligent enough to have loyalty to the person who feeds him. I feed mine three pounds of horse-meat a day. But he's worth his weight (110 pounds) in horse-meat.

My husband has a very mean temper and used to take it out on me with regular beatings. Since I've had this dog, everything has changed. If my husband so much as raises his voice to me, the dog lets out a low, angry growl and displays a splendid set of long canine teeth. Then my husband backs off.

PROTECTED
Dear Protected: Why not try to find out the cause of your husband's bark rather than depend on your dog's bite? A wife who needs a dog to protect her against her husband doesn't know the "art" of what should.

Dear Abby: We have some good friends who visit us frequently. They have a child who is intelligent, pretty and completely obnoxious. She barks, squeals, and runs around the floor on all fours. When she is told to be quiet, she throws herself at her parents, kicking, biting and butting them with her head. They have absolutely no control over her, but brag (in front of the child) about how "rough and tough" she is.

Would you, for the child's sake, tell the parents that they should not allow this otherwise lovely child to grow up like a wild animal? Or should we break off the friendship with the parents?

DISGUSTED
Dear Disgusted: For some strange reason, most parents can accept any kind of criticism—except that which concerns their children. Tell them how you feel, but be prepared to lose their friendship.

Skidding Car Hits Truck; Man Suffers Head Injury

PORTLAND — A Brooklyn, N.Y., man is in Monroe County General Hospital today with a possible fractured skull following an accident at 3:10 p.m. Saturday on the outskirts of Portland.

James Murphy, of Brooklyn, was thrown from a car driven by his wife, Dorothy, when the vehicle, heading South struck an icy patch and slammed into a tractor-trailer headed north on Route 611.

Police Chief Jess Felker said Mrs. Murphy tried to apply her brakes, but the icy road prevented gaining any traction and the car hit the front end of the truck a glancing blow, skidded off and then hit the trailer end of the truck.

Strikes Highway

Murphy was thrown from the car to the concrete road by the impact of the collision.

Driver of the truck was Paul Edwards, Elmhurst, who told police he tried to avoid the crash by pulling over against the shoulder of the highway as much as possible.

Felker said the truck moved several guard posts when the vehicle was driven close to the roadside.

Murphy was taken to Monroe County General Hospital by Portland ambulance where his condition is announced as guarded.

Felker said he would continue the investigation of the crash.

CLU Favors Pay Increase For Workers

CENTRAL Labor Union of Monroe and Pike Counties passed a resolution to grant state employees an across-the-board increase at its regular meeting last night in the CLU Social Club, East Stroudsburg.

The resolution would affect some 70,000 state workers and would be the first increase, across-the-board, received since 1953.

The state, county and municipal workers have been asking for a $2 per day increase. This would amount to about $300 per year and is to offset the increase in the cost of living. They have been asking for this increase since 1953.

Committee Heads

Other business for the meeting was the announcement of the 1960 committees by President Stuart Pipher. Committee chairmen are: Refreshments, Lester Jennings; Organization, Howard Koch; unfair practice, Joseph Mulally; men's COPE, Carl Woolover; women's COPE, Mary Jones; publicity, John Rose, Jr.; Chamber of Commerce, Stuart Pipher.

Also, physical handicapped, Ida Krebs; legislature, Stuart Pipher and George Rung, co-chairmen; Eastern Conference of Central Labor, Stuart Pipher and George Rung, co-chairmen; fair wage, Glenn Klinger; senior citizens, Thomas Douglas; Central Labor Union banquet, Mary Jones and James Devaney, co-chairmen; Cancer Fund, Mary Jones and Stanley Melvin, co-chairmen; Community Chest, George Rung and Cora Muffley, co-chairmen.

A retired laborer, he had been a resident of the Stroudsburgs his entire life.

He was the son of the late Peter and Emma LeBar Hannas, of Monroe County.

Mr. Hannas is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Heller, of East Stroudsburg and Mrs. Olivia Stetler, of Stroudsburg, and one brother, Lester Hannas, of East Stroudsburg.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the Lanterman Funeral Home.

Officiating will be Rev. William F. Wunder, and interment will be in Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home Monday after 7 p.m.

Pontiff Leaves Vatican Grounds

ROME (AP)—Pope John XXIII left Vatican City Sunday to participate in Lenten services in a church on the outskirts of Rome.

The pontiff, renewing a practice he began during the Lenten season last year, said he would visit a Rome church each Sunday of the 40-day period preceding the Easter holiday.

On this first Sunday of Lent, he went to the Church of San Felice di Cantalicio, a parish church directed by minor friars of the Capuchin religious order. Several thousand Romans participated with the pontiff in the Lenten procession held inside the church and in an adjoining square.

Shameful Performance

Filibuster is a nasty word to most Northern residents, because it frequently refers to efforts by a small but potent bloc of Southerners to kill pending civil rights legislation in the U. S. Senate.

The filibuster, its critics charge, is an instrument of minority rule. Not so, its defenders maintain, claiming it to be a weapon against majority oppression.

In either event, the current around-the-clock filibuster in Washington is providing some of the most colorful hours in Senate history—and also some of the longest and most shameful. Not in years has there been a filibuster more embarrassing abroad or at home than the present one.

Now, as when Woodrow Wilson deflected the Senate's inability to act on his Armed Ship Bill in pre-war 1917, a "little group of willful men . . . have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible."

It remains the only legislative body on earth "which cannot act when its majority is ready for action," and it reminds the world of its impotence at a time when President Eisenhower has just completed a tour abroad preaching and pleading democracy and equality for all.

The situation at home is equally disturbing. While senators wrangle over whether Negro Americans shall vote as the Constitution decrees, areas in which they are relegated to second class citizenship are in ferment. There is disorder, and the threat of more.

In the Senate the issue is joined. There were early indications that Southern Democrats regarded the voting rights provisions of proposed legislation with less hostility than school integration.

Now, they make it clear there will be no compromise in this "debate." Civil rights advocates should be equally adamant. If they remain so, victory can come this time, from exhaustion if not intelligence.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Religious Conflicts

"Christianity Today" is a fortnightly publication issued in Washington. It recently published an article entitled, "Bigotry or Sincere?" This article summarized the opposition to a member of the Roman Catholic religion serving in public office in the United States.

I am neither a Roman Catholic nor a Protestant. I am, by religion, a Jew and I cherish the heritage of my fathers. This political quarrel between Catholics and Protestants does not affect me as a religious partisan; it does affect me as an American who fears the consequences of the bitterness that religious particularism is developing in this country.

We already have too many racial and religious conflicts in the United States.

Usually when an outsider enters a quarrel of this nature, he is the one who gets hurt. But this must be noted: The United States, at this stage in its history, requires most of all unity of purpose, unity of patriotism. We face a formidable enemy who will take advantage of every dissension among us.

To the outsider, a Christian is a Christian and the varieties of sect are private matters. Similarly, a candidate for President is an American, qualified by the Constitution and the law to run for office and to take office. The publication, "Christianity Today," says:

" . . . Roman Catholics have elected a record number of governors; their political power has greatly increased. . . . The Governors have been elected as American citizens. They are either Republicans or Democrats. In the United States, we have no Centrist Party, consisting of Roman Catholics. Such a political party would be intolerable. Similarly, a political party basing itself on some other religious sect would also be intolerable."

In New Jersey, a state with a large number of voters who are Catholics, Gov. Robert Meyner, who is no longer a follower of the religion of his cradle, was elected by a large vote; in Connecticut, a state which also has a large number of Catholic citizens, Abraham Ribicoff, a Jew, has twice been elected Governor of his state.

By recognition on all sides, Alfred Smith was the best Governor New York State has had in many decades; certainly, he was the most beloved.

The article proceeds: "Opposition to political Romanism is not unreasonable, because a Catholic in the Presidency would be torn between two loyalties as no Protestant has ever been."

"A candidate may announce, and even sincerely believe, that he is immune to Vatican pressure; but can we be sure that he will not succumb in the confessional booth to threats of purgatory and promises of merit from the organization which he believes to hold the keys of Heaven?"

What a pitiful argument in the 20th century! The enemy of our age is the destruction of the spiritual life by atheistic Marxism, leaving oncoming generations devoid of the essentials of Western civilization, faith, hope and love.

When religious groups, be they whatever they choose to call themselves, devote themselves to spreading hate, to rejecting diversities of response to the love for God, they assist in the ruination of Western civilization. They kill the spirit of our particular culture and leave us barren.

The article further says: "Far from bigotry, opposition to the nomination and election of a Romanist is perfectly rational. To suggest that this opposition is bigotry is itself a smear campaign. It is an effort to distract the public's mind.

"It attempts to obscure the important difference between the wise policy of acknowledging religious liberty for all, even for Roman Catholics who do not believe in it, and the unwise policy of choosing a Romanist government that could take the first step which would extinguish religious liberty."

This is 16th century language in the 20th century. Surely, we have moved closer to a universal association of all men and women of God in this century when the issue is being drawn sharply.

Khrushchev has announced his atheism as a public doctrine; Sen. John Kennedy has remained loyal to the faith of his fathers. Shall we be forced to decide between Khrushchev's atheism and Kennedy's form of Christianity?

It is not a question of bigotry or smear. It is a question as to whether any American citizen, of whatever faith, who fulfills the qualifications set forth in the Constitution, may be nominated for and elected to the Presidency of the United States. Do we have secondary citizens?

The Allen-Scott Report

Israel Seeks Weapons

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—Israel is again seeking to buy U.S. weapons to meet the threat of a new flood of late-model Russian arms to the United Arab Republic.

The State Department's long-standing opposition to Israel's purchasing weapons here will be discussed by Premier Ben-Gurion in his impending visit to Washington.

during which he will confer with President Eisenhower, Secretary Herter and congressional leaders.

Urgently desired by Israel are defensive weapons, particularly anti-aircraft and anti-tank rockets, and the Army's new powerful and fast medium tank.

Two grim reasons are behind this:

It is definitely known that UAR President Gamal Nasser is concluding a new arms agreement with the Kremlin. The existing five-year pact expires in a few months.

Under this new agreement, Nasser will get improved armor equipment and MIG-19s, the Soviet's latest jet fighter. This plane is rated as superior to the Super-Mystere.

Which he bought from France. The Mystere is more potent than the MIG-19, and on a par with the MIG-17. The UAR has a number of the latter.

To prepare for the MIG-19s, Egyptian and Syrian pilots and other personnel are undergoing training in Czechoslovakia. Special emphasis is being placed on night fighting techniques.

Premier Ben-Gurion will stress that no military aid is being sought; that Israel wants only to be allowed to buy the U.S. weapons it deems urgently necessary.

Efforts to do that have been underway since 1955, when Israel proposed purchasing $50 million of jet fighters, tanks, artillery and small naval vessels to counter a flood of weapons Egypt obtained from Russia. The Pentagon approved most of this list, but the late Secretary John Foster Dulles strongly opposed such a sale.

This barrier is still in effect, despite repeated efforts in Congress and the Administration to change it. What Secretary Herter will do about it remains to be seen.

One reason for the recent war scare in the Middle East was a Syrian military order commandeering all trucks. They were directed to report immediately to specified army centers, where the trucks were assigned to reserve units that were put on a 24-hour alert. Certain of these Syrian reserves are still on a mobilization basis.

Latest proposal from U.S. ally is a Pakistan request for "tactical nuclear weapons" to be supplied in the form of military aid. The prospects of Pakistan getting such arms are remote.

Tactical nuclear weapons are mainly anti-aircraft, anti-tank and anti-rocket with a destructive force up to 20 kilotons—equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT.

Notable Forum — President de Gaulle will address a joint session of Congress when he comes to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower in late April. Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Tex., proposed that to the State Department, which put the matter up to the French leader, and he accepted. However, Chancellor Adenauer is not being invited to speak to Congress during his visit here next week.

President Eisenhower's visit to Chile has already produced one good result—an agreement under which Chile will buy upwards of $6 million of U.S. surplus farm products.

Another compromise to bring French forces back into the NATO defense system will be considered by the Allied ministers at their meeting in Paris late this month.

Under this new proposal, an air defense region would be established under the command of a French general who would be designated by President de Gaulle. This French air commander would function under the overall command of General Norstad, NATO chief, but would be chiefly concerned with the air defense of France.

The Kremlin is banning Russian movies that hint there is distress and discontent behind the Iron Curtain. Also barred are films dealing with youth problems. The "ideal motion picture should portray the Soviet individual as filled with pride and happiness as he works for a bright future and fulfillment of the fatherland's latest seven-year economic plan."

The edict also prescribed that movie heroes should be "humble little people; factory workers, villagers, who joyfully toil for the mighty and irresistible advance of Communism." Movie producers are particularly warned against "lewd plots and petty bourgeois opinions."

Social Security Guide

Q. My gross income from self-employment was $4900 in 1959, but my net profit was only $3100. Do I get social security credit for $4900 or $3100? How much will the tax be?

A. Self-employed people are credited with their net profit. The 1959 tax is 3 1/2% of this net, or $116.25.

Q. I worked under social security from 1936 to 1947. I will be 65 in 1960. Will I be eligible for benefits? If so, how will they be figured?

A. Apparently you have at least 10 years of social security credit which makes you eligible for benefits. Your wages will be averaged over 18 years, or Jan. 1, 1937, through Dec. 31, 1959, with 5 low years dropped. The benefit is then based on your average monthly earnings for the remaining 13 years in which you worked under social security.

Q. How can a worker freeze his wages?

A. The only "freeze" is a disability freeze. The purpose is to protect your future benefits.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Mischief At The Back Door

What the managed-economy advocates cannot immediately get through the front door they usually seek through the back. That is the case with a bill in Congress which would require the President to hold public hearings on certain price and wage increases.

Since the President's conclusion would be optional rather than mandatory, this piece of business may sound relatively harmless. But as Chairman Saulnier of the Council of Economic Advisers correctly noted, it would almost certainly lead to wage and price controls. He called it "mischievous" legislation.

Asked Mr. Saulnier at a Senate subcommittee session: "What if the President finds the wage and price increases unjustified? The next step would be sanctions to roll back the wage and price increases. I think this would inevitably develop into wage and price controls."

And Victor Rauter, assistant to his brother Walter of the United Automobile Workers, evidently sniffed the same danger in this bill sponsored by Senator Clark of Pennsylvania. Revealingly enough, Mr. Rauter said in effect that the idea was okay for price increases but not for wage increases. We don't blame him for being concerned.

It would seem that, after all the dismal experience with direct economic controls throughout history, people would finally allow such nonsense a peaceful death. If Congress is really concerned with wage-price spirals, let it consider the causes in union monopoly, Government inflation and exorbitant taxation. And let it keep the back door firmly closed against the other mischief-makers.

The Pennsylvania Story

Campaigning Costly

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania Democratic and Republican leaders are taking a long, bleak look these days at the strenuous campaign trail facing them in the next several months — with one eye on building expense items they know they must face, the other eye concentrating on strained party coffers.

In many ways it is a tantalizing and worrisome point — and not without good reason.

Major campaigns today — such as the one facing Democrats and Republicans this Fall — are no longer conducted on hot air and a shoestring of a few thousand dollars.

Contemporary struggles of a statewide nature similar to this year's fracas require not only hot air but also expenditures running into the million-dollar-plus bracket.

Perhaps one of the most interesting aspects of the fiscal dilemma facing Democrats in the driver's seat this year is the lack — technically at least — of strong financial assistance from some $60,000 non-civil service state employees.

Heretofore under Republican administrations this source has been a seemingly bottomless financial well.

Regular annual assessments usually averaging around two per cent of the employee's salary, became accepted as almost standard procedure.

Detailed lists were maintained of contributors and their amounts — as well as lists of those who neglected to contribute, or who failed to meet contribution standards.

Those in the latter category usually wound up ultimately with either pink dismissal slips in their hands, or if classified as essential technical employees, discovered that pay increases in the future were not forthcoming.

This practice became the butt of severe and sharp criticism of on-the-outs Democrats reaching its peak perhaps during the 1954 campaign which swung Democratic Governor Leader into office.

With this unexpected victory Democrats found themselves faced with the inescapable fact that desperately though they need money they could hardly come out baldly and follow exactly the same practice for which they so untrillingly criticized their Republican predecessors.

All of this is deadly serious business for both parties. Both Democrats and Republicans are up against it this year — and for state payrollers the picture stands every chance of becoming darker!

Hollywood old-timers recall a night when those two brilliant but recalcitrant old sinners, John Barrymore and Gene Fowler, were dining together at the Brown Derby. Barrymore was coughing incessantly. "Jack," Fowler finally told him, "there are two kinds of cough: a hang-over cough, and the one you haven't got."

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

The cat, you may be relieved to know, was fine. As a matter of fact since the snow is drifted waist-high at the back, he made his gentlemanly entrances and exits by the front door, which is ordinarily reserved for visiting strangers.

I was not so fortunate. Since my only key is to the back door I had to wallow around in the drifts, giving me an almost eye-level view of rabbit tracks which dented the surface by barely an inch.

And plenty of time to wonder how they did it and wish I could emulate the trick as the snow melted in my boots and froze on my knees everytime I stopped to take a breath.

The rabbits and me were the only things that had made tracks in the driven snow, and once I had burrowed into the house I was much inclined to stay there until Spring. The basketball game was exciting; the report of the President's South American trip instructive; there was food and heat and plenty to read, and nothing you could dream up by way of programs seemed worth the trip out.

Which opinion seemed a bit silly once I did emerge again to find the plowed roads melted clean and dry, people trotting around in slippers on bare sidewalks and life progressing just as usual. However, it's still like commuting from Alaska as far as I'm concerned.

And it didn't make home seem any warmer to find a letter from Gladys Hintz inclosing the story about Henri Metzgar's hole-in-one down in Clearwater, Fla. The Clearwater paper reported Mrs. Thomas L. Metzgar used a No. 7 iron on the 105 yard hole yesterday to record a hole-in-one at Glen Oaks. The charming Mrs. Metzgar's home is in Stroudsburg, Pa.

Well, the charming Mrs. Metzgar and Dr. Tom both got to their home in Stroudsburg, Pa. at the tail end of the storm to report that Gladys Hintz had her hair cut and that Merle Ostrom has lost 40 pounds.

From now on, I suppose all our rich Southern friends will be trickling home but I have a feeling that it will be June before Spring comes to the Westbrooks. I wonder why I don't just stay home and open a winter resort with dog-sleds.

Reschedule Grange

Brodheadsville — The Mineola Grange whose meeting on Friday was cancelled by the storm will meet tonight at the West End Firehall in Brodheadsville.

Start At The Bottom To Work Up To Success

By Anne Heywood

We take it for granted that, in a job, you have to prove your worth before you can be promoted to the top. But too often we forget that the same thing holds true in setting up a business or service of your own. Unless you have enormous capital and abundant contacts you have to ease into it in a small way and work up.

Wanted To Be Decorator
For example, I know a woman who wanted to be a decorator and took a good correspondence course in decorating. Then she, so to speak, hung out her shingle as a decorator. She got almost no business, got discouraged and quit.

Another woman who took the same course also wanted to be a decorator. But she did it more gradually and more intelligently.

She Specialized
First she specialized in making slipcovers and draperies. It's true, making slipcovers and draperies is a pretty lowly job for a decorator. But in her community at that time she knew there was a great demand for people who could do the actual making skillfully and well. She also, of course, advised about colors and textures and used much of her decorating know-how.

Eventually her business was so good that people hired her for advice and she had a couple of women working for her who did the actual work. After that, she became a full-fledged decorator and tapered off the slipcover part.

In Other Field
The same thing is true in dress design.

A reader writes that she is fascinated with dress design and has taken some courses. Now she cannot get a full-time job, because she has family obligations. But she wants to get some customers to design for.

Walter Henry Thompson

Scotland Yard Inspector, Churchill Bodyguard, To Speak At Dutch Treat Thurs.

Prince Paul of Yugoslavia and retired Scotland Yard inspector and Sir Winston Churchill's bodyguard during some of the most exciting periods of his life will be the speaker at the Dutch Treat Club at the dinner meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Thursday night at 7 p.m.

Mother's Day Smorgasbord

Promised Land — Plans for the annual smorgasbord dinner scheduled for Mother's Day, May 8, will be discussed during the meeting of the Ladies Club on March 11 at the home of Helen Bastian.

The dinner will be served from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Protestant Community Church on Route 390. The public is invited. Proceeds will be used in community service projects.

Guests From Georgia

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph DeMeo and daughter, Bonnie Ann, who recently moved to Stroudsburg from Georgia had as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. William Pinecard of suburban Decatur, Ga.

Climb The Ladder Of Success From The Bottom Up

I think that, unless she has unlimited numbers of wealthy friends, she'd better start with a simple alteration service. That way she can show her stuff and get good potential customers. Then she can move to dressmaking, then perhaps do the designing and have others do the actual sewing.

If you are planning a home service, remember that you have to start at the bottom—it's really safer and more fun that way. Because then you don't have the feeling of pressure, of having bitten off more than you can chew. And then, too, you have a chance to build, slowly, the kind of good reputation that is the most important capital investment you can have.

It's the equivalent of beginning in the bush leagues—you can get all the bugs out of the act before you get in the major leagues.

Local Clinic Services Expanding

The local fund-raising campaign to maintain the Planned Parenthood Center at 519 Sarah Street has begun and will continue through the month of March in conjunction with a nationwide campaign being conducted by the Planned Parenthood Federation of America with which the Monroe County Association is affiliated.

The local Center was founded in 1936 with the backing of the local women of the Senior Woman's Club Group. Through the years it has aided married women from 824 families to space their children. Some 6,604 visits have been made by women seeking advice on family planning, infertility, education for marriage or just to discuss some problem with the center doctors.

The local association has maintained a public education service through pamphlets, radio interviews, newspaper releases as well as supplying speakers, when requested, on all phases of education for marriage and responsible parenthood.

Last year, in cooperation with the local Ministerium and the YMCA a group "Education for Marriage" Course was given; it is expected that this course will be continued in April or May.

Wesley Chapel WSCS Meets At Canfield Home

Bartonsville — Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr. recently entertained the Women's Society of Christian Service of Wesley Chapel at a meeting at her home.

The meeting opened with devotions led by Mrs. Steward Walters and Mrs. Forrest Sebring.

The lesson discussion on "Social Creeds and Moving Populations of Migrant Workers," was conducted by Mrs. James Owens.

Mrs. Robert Bonser presided at the business session when it was decided to proceed with the installation of hot and cold running water in the church kitchen.

It was announced that Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr. and Mrs. Edward Vican had cut out a large amount of children's clothing. The society will meet at the church hall in the near future to sew the garments. When completed the clothing will be sent to the Deaconess Home in Philadelphia.

The group was reminded of the annual ingathering in March. This year it will be held at the Pen Argyl Methodist Church.

March 24 was set as the date for the next WSCS meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Gerald Miller, wife of Pastor Miller, was surprised when Mrs. Canfield presented her with a birthday cake, for the February 25 celebration of her natal day.

Those present were Mrs. James Owens, Mrs. Steward Walters, Mrs. Forrest Sebring, Mrs. Elwood Arndt, Mrs. Wandell Rolph, Mrs. Beatrice Rolph, Mrs. Fred Frailey, Mrs. Harry Armitage, Mrs. Raymond Roberts, Mrs. Leon Price, Mrs. Gerald Miller, Mrs. Clyde White, Mrs. Robert Bonser and the hostess, Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr.

Democratic Women Sponsor Card Party

A card party will take the place of the March meeting of the Women's Democratic Club of Monroe County on Wednesday night at 8 at the Stroud Community House.

Mrs. J. Joseph McCluskey is in charge of arrangements. Individual table prizes will be awarded and tickets may be secured from members of the club.

Furniture Providing More Space

By Eleanor Ross

This year's wholesale furniture showings concentrate on pieces to take care of space problems—not outer, but inner. Of course there are the usual fine, big, impressive pieces on view, but store-bought pieces of the problems of their customers, are concentrating on double-duty pieces and many clever all-in-one designs.

Many Uses

For the living-dining room there's a handsome bridge table design of fine cabinet work. It expands to seat twelve, but when not doing dining duty, it can double as a small table for lamps, curios or such and is prepared to see the hostess through a card game, too.

Back again is the dining table with drawers to store linen and silver. Haven't seen such a one for years, except in a used furniture or thrift shop!

Space Saver

Another good storage - space piece is a lamp table in the form of a round commode with doors on the side that reveal plenty of storage space.

And table drawers have been getting an overhauling, too, with the happy result that there is a "no-tug" drawer made with a magnetic catch. One push and it pops open.

Also shown is a "no-jam" drawer that automatically levels itself when the contents become heavier on one side than the other.

Many new one-room apartment layouts have nice little foyers.

Hangs On Wall

For such a floor plan, manufacturers have come up with a table that hangs on the wall in Murphy-bed fashion. The table, supported on brackets, juts out for several feet and gives the impression of a room divider. It has a drop leaf which lets down so that the table can be used as a desk.

Foreign Policy Study

A unit meeting to discuss foreign policy will be held by the League of Women Voters on Monday night at 8 p.m. at the home of Miss Margaret Mutchler, 509 Thomas St., Stroudsburg.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Gerald Miller, wife of Pastor Miller, was surprised when Mrs. Canfield presented her with a birthday cake, for the February 25 celebration of her natal day.

Those present were Mrs. James Owens, Mrs. Steward Walters, Mrs. Forrest Sebring, Mrs. Elwood Arndt, Mrs. Wandell Rolph, Mrs. Beatrice Rolph, Mrs. Fred Frailey, Mrs. Harry Armitage, Mrs. Raymond Roberts, Mrs. Leon Price, Mrs. Gerald Miller, Mrs. Clyde White, Mrs. Robert Bonser and the hostess, Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr.

Music Club Musical Recitation

A musical recitation based on the dramatic story, "The Song of the Witch" will be presented at the meeting of the Music Study Club of the Stroudsburgs on Tuesday night at 7:45 at the home of Mrs. Nelson A. Frantz, 52 Broad St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Merlin Rutt will be the narrator with a piano accompaniment by Hans Buedicker. The poem is by Ernst von Wildenbruch and the musical composition by Max Schillings.

Mrs. Gertrude Davis will present the Hymn-of-the-month, "The Spacious Firmament on High."

Poplar Valley WSCS Auction On March 26

A family supper preceded the meeting of the Poplar Valley Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Donald Besecker led the devotions and Mrs. Orien Reish accompanied the singing.

Mrs. Edward Dennis presided at the business meeting when plans for the auction sale at the Orien Reish Farm on March 26 were announced by Mrs. Ted Bush, chairman. Baked goods will also be sold beginning at 1 p.m.

The Needlework Circle plans to present aprons at the annual ingathering.

Mrs. Dennis appointed Mrs. Robert Bentzoni, Mrs. Donald Reish and Mrs. Robert Zeller to the nominating committee.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Ernest Brewer, Mrs. Orien Reish, Mrs. Leonard Reish, Mrs. Edward Dennis, Mrs. Edward Gunn, Mrs. Fred Dennis, Miss Joyce Gunn, Mrs. Robert Bentzoni, Mrs. Donald Besecker, Mrs. Norman Dennis.

Some Delicious Dishes With Hawaiian Flavor

By Alice Denhoff

Let's hula into the kitchen and whip up some delicious dishes with a Hawaiian flavor, the first a fine Friday special for luncheon or supper.

To serve 4, combine 2 c. milk, 1 (4 oz.) can flaked coconut, tsp. salt, 1 1/2 c. cut corn, 1 1/2 c. corn spinach and 2 (5 oz.) cans shrimp, drained.

Cover and cook over low heat until vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally.

It's the coconut that gives such a fine flavor to this mixture.

Pork Hawaiian
Next, Sweet and Sour Pork, Hawaiian style.

To serve 4, heat 2 tbsp. salad oil; add 1 lb. (1 in.) pork cubes and cook until browned on all sides.

Add 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/4 c. sugar, 1/4 c. vinegar, 1/4 c. water and 2 tsp. each chili sauce and soy sauce.

Cover and cook over low heat stirring occasionally.

Combine 2 beaten eggs and 2 tsp. all-purpose flour; blend.

Add a small amount of pork liquid; blend. Add to remaining pork mixture, stirring well.

Add 1 diced, medium-sized

Ford Industrial Tractors Welcome Sight To Area People

Model 1841 Built For Duty

DOZENS of local people agree that the sight of one of these Ford Tractors was a most welcome sight these past few days. The model shown in the picture is the new Ford Model 1841 Industrial tractor built from top to bottom for the heavy work load encountered in today's rugged jobs. The frame design is heavy duty full length channel steel that turns from the standard rear axle to the special front axle. The frame is designed to carry the weight of the tractor and all implements except those attached to the three point hitch linkage on the rear of the tractor. The tractor frame serves as the loader frame too! The heavy duty grill is made of malleable cast iron and serves as a bumper during loading operations.

Virtually Effortless
Steering with the Model 1841 is virtually effortless as the steering is assist-powered by a full power hydraulic system. The rugged transmission gives the tractor 10 speeds forward and two reverse speeds. A reversing transmission gives quick change from forward to reverse for increased ease of operation and work output.

The front end loader on the Model 1841 will lift 2500 pounds with a breakaway pressure of 5,000 lbs. The high load capacity front axle is designed to carry the heavy loads required in loader operation and is centering to allow either wheel to raise 13" for easy maneuvering on rough terrain.

Great Combination
Couple all these features with Ford's sensational Select-O-Speed and you've got the greatest combination ever, for work output and ease of operation. Winter, Spring, Summer or Fall, this rugged tractor can handle your toughest job with unbelievable ease!

Floors Of Oak Solve Problem

OAK FLOORS are helping apartment owners to whip the ogre of high maintenance costs, a leading building trade publication indicates.

The magazine's editors interviewed scores of apartment builders, architects, mortgage bankers, investors and management firms from coast to coast in an effort to learn how operating costs could be pared.

Among the major suggestions was an emphasis on the flooring. Practically all the apartment owners and maintenance engineers recommended use of high grade oak flooring for living rooms, bedrooms and halls.

One large apartment building operator, the magazine reported, is upgrading old apartments by replacing composition floors with genuine oak.

Floors of oak are noted for resistance to wear and exceptionally low upkeep cost. They can be expected to last the life of a building with little or no repair.

Spring Good Time To Sell

SPRING is a good time to sell your house. Trees, bushes and flowers are coming to life then, the ground shows promise of lush greenness, and the buyer may be in a better mood to appreciate your sales pitch than during the hot summer or cold winter.

It is no easy feat to sell a house. It may take quite a while to get your price, and your house may take on a carnival air as prospective buyers trample through.

There's no better way to speed up the sale than to give your house personality. Make it different from other houses. Give it a homey atmosphere.

Meyers Lists Furniture Musts

OLD FASHIONED comfort combined with long lasting quality are the two furniture essentials most demanded by customers today says one of the city's top retailers.

Colors vary from year to year and changes in styling regularly come along but homemakers are still most concerned with buying furniture that is comfortable and sturdy made, says Earl Meyers of Meyers Furniture Store.

"When a man shops with his wife for furniture—he not only sits back in a sofa... he lies down to see how it will be for that after dinner snooze" says Meyers. His wife on the other hand asks questions about the upholstery fabric, how it will wear and clean.

Week's Feature
This week Meyers Furniture Store is featuring a new nationally advertised collection of sterling designs specifically designed to be both comfortable and long lasting. Included is the "Kingston" group from Kroehler, the world's largest furniture manufacturer. In the "Kingston" sofa and matching chair—wonderfully soft and resilient foam cushioning is used to add to the comfort of wide slanted pillow arms. To support even the heaviest man, there are cone-coiled springs under the seat cushions, perfectly balanced and designed to adjust evenly for different weights.

The idea of quality plus comfort is also carried into the frame of the furniture. Each basic part of the "Kingston" sofa is completely put together and bolted prior to final assembly. This gives the frame the kind of permanence demanded by discriminating homemakers.

Dozens Of Fabrics
Meyers points out that there are dozens of different fabrics and colors from which shoppers can select including popular long wearing nylon frieze and boucle.

The "Kingston" from Kroehler is now on display at Meyers Furniture Store in the Masonic Building in East Stroudsburg.

Morman & Son Offer Tops In Floorcoverings

THE STANDARD practice at L. V. MORMAN & SON has been to offer their customers the best in proven quality merchandise... the most for their dollar.

In keeping with this policy, L.V. MORMAN & SON is now offering a new idea in carpet-top floor coverings. The name of this product is Crown Candycoate, manufactured by The Crown Rubber Co. in Fremont, Ohio.

Bonded To
The covering is a cotton face bonded to a backing of foam cushion rubber. This inexpensive cotton carpet can be used first as a room rug and then later, when you are ready to install a regular woolen or synthetic fibre carpet, the Crown

Candycoate can be left down as a rug pad.

Crown Candycoate is available in room size rugs or in 27 inch runner width for hall and stairway. The material is so durable that the company sells it on a three year guarantee basis. A wide variety of colors and patterns are available, plaids, candystripes and plain stripes.

Also available at MORMAN'S is Crown Foamstep, a stair and hall runner in 27 inch width. This is foam base for soft cushioning and has a vinyl top for hard wearing durability.

Visit L. V. MORMAN & SON for the latest in dependable floor covering needs.

Fetherman Helps Make Old Into New

ACCORDING to Fred Fetherman of Fetherman's Paint Store at 766 Main St. in Stroudsburg, you can make old furniture into new with the revolutionary Multi-Color Painting miracle. As the name implies there has never been anything quite like this product. It gives a multi-colored surface—in any color of your choice—which looks just like patterns you've seen on inlaid linoleum or plastic countertops.

Multi-color covers any surface—wood, plastic, sheetrock, furniture, toys, home decorations. And it's easy to apply: Any amateur can apply Multi-color and achieve a professional look, Fetherman's point out. "It adds new beauty to anything you paint. One coat does the trick—covers raw, unfinished edges, wood or metal imperfections and dries in 15 minutes."

Multi-color is also washable, resists grease, stains, inks, alcohol, dirt, acids. It comes in 28 color combinations in "See Thru" quarts—you actually see the colors you buy.

Twelve Teams Entered

Varsity "S" Hoop Tourney
Opens At Stroud Tonight

THE EIGHTH annual Varsity "S" basketball tourney, termed "the best ever," by its director Warren Loney, opens a six-night stand at Stroud Union High School tonight.

The first game at 7:15 p.m. pairs Tami's Dress Shop and the Palmerton Merchants and the 9:15 nightcap sends Belvidere American Legion against Wels' Esso Service.

Two games are also booked Tuesday and Wednesday nights, to complete the week's action. The tourney resumes next week with games on Monday and Tuesday and the final, Wednesday night.

Champs Back
Defending champion, Fetherman's Paint Store, drew a bye in the first round and does not play until Wednesday. But the Painters get a big test in their first game when they meet Britte Cleaners, a club that features the East Stroudsburg State College varsity basketball team.

The squad is coached by Lyn Schlegel, who can call on Russ Hopewell, Ken Hendricks, Larry Walsh, Joe Habakus, Al Stockholm, Tony Salerno or Bob Sweeney.

Fetherman's, in addition to three Stroud Union teachers, Bob Wert, Walt Bjorn and Wilmont Smith, has Dick Frantz and Herb Loeffler, who put in a half a season with Muhlenberg this year.

Shamrocks Entered
The two teams meet in Wednesday's opener, with the Plymouth Shamrocks and Scranton going in the wind-up.

Tuesday's Big Brown Derby
Against Stockertown Pistons at 7:15 p.m. and Tami's Sportswear and Bogart Builders of Allentown, in the closer.

The Plymouth Shamrocks, who were the tourney runners-up last year, feature Mike Kwak, the Kings' College flash, who scored 25 against ESSC Saturday. Bob Mulvey, the tourney's MVP last year, and John Polanchak from East Stroudsburg State College.

Two Scranton Stars
Scranton, one of the pre-tourney favorites, boasts former Scranton University great, Ed Kazlavich, and Bob Bassolar, six-foot eight-inch freshman basketball coach at Scranton.

Tatamy Sportswear has four players who played for Stroud Union High School, brothers Todd and Ted Williams, Roy Loeffler and Chick Miller, Ted Williams and Loeffler starred for the Mountaineers this year, while Ted Williams was on the Michigan State freshman team.

Charley Ross, a 1000-plus pointer at Lafayette in three years of competition, leads the Stockertown five.

Kessler Named Twice
Mel Kessler, the six-foot, eight-inch ex-Muhlenberg high scorer, who is the basketball coach at Nazareth High, is listed on both the Britte Cleaners and Bogart Builders rosters. "The first team that uses Kessler will have the right to him," says Loney of the dual roster problem.

Brown Derby, basically the same team that plays in the YMCA Senior League, builds its attack around Bernie Marchionis, who has been scoring at a 30 plus point clip in the Y league.

Ed Hothouse, a six-foot, eight-and-a-half-inch, high school senior, is the big name for Belvidere's Legion club.

Scotty Weaver, Rick Carroll, Jack Murphy, from the ESSC junior varsity and Will Peiffer of the Warriors' varsity, head Tami's entry.

Tickets for the tourney are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

AIR BORNE—Russ Hopewell, who ran his two year scoring total to 711 points, with 25 points against Kings' Saturday, is shown scoring a field goal on his favorite jump shot. East Stroudsburg beat Kings' 80-79 after trailing through most of the game. The win gave East Stroudsburg a 7-13 season mark. (Staff Photo by Prins)

Crowe Wins
First Sweep
Of Season

CROWE Insurance Agency won its first four game sweep of the Delaware Valley Bowling League season, blanking Oakwood Lanes Saturday.

Jake Nittel was high for Crowe with a 203 and 575 match. Russ Bergman posted a 573 series.

Wayne Brodt had the double high for Oakwood with a 212 single and 542 match.

TVers Lose
Three To Speed Team

NAZARETH Speedway captured a 3-1 decision from Twin City TV Saturday at Easton's Bar-Don Lanes.

Ken Barnes and Ken Fetherman had the high series for the locals with 563. Barnes' 213 was the high TV single.

Chet Williams posted a 595 series and Ray Uhler a 236 single for the Speedway five, which missed a sweep by three pins in the last game.

Of '840 Classic' With 50.62

OSCAR Stuckey was third in scoring but first in point production and moved into first place in the "840 Classic" Sunday.

Stuckey's 510 total was third behind Ken Fetherman's 552 and Frank Laise's 531.

But Stuckey earned 11.10 points by taking the third game and collecting the runner-up point in the second game. He earned a single point on an opening 127 as Dave Beseker totaled only 126. Beseker finished with a 498 for 8.98 points. Fetherman earned 10.52 points for his showing and Laise managed 8.51.

Leads By 5.16
Stuckey, who trailed Jim Schoch of Cresco by slightly more than five points going into the match, now leads Schoch by 5.16 points with only three weeks remaining in the event.

Stuckey has 50.32 points to Schoch's 45.46.

Ken Metzgar of Swiftwater, with 30.20 points, trailed Schoch in the standings, followed by Harold Storm, 27.55, John Sadowski, 25.22; Jake Nittel, Angelo Palumbo, Jim Harmon, Sr., Richard Lessig, Russ Dennis, Jr. and Russ Bergman.

Youngsters May Boost Birds Standing

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is one in a series on the major league teams.

By Walter L. Johns

Central Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla. — Paul Richards, the well-tanned, lean Texan who bosses the field activities of the Baltimore Orioles, is going all out with a youth program this year, believing his club will be better because of an improved defense, but listing the White Sox, Yankees and Indians as "the teams to beat."

"However, they all have 'ifs' and problems," Richards adds. "If their problems become acute, then some stranger like Baltimore, Boston, Kansas City, Detroit or what have you might slip in."

The Orioles, who spent 128 out of a possible 172 days in the first division last year, tailed off to finish sixth, 20 games behind the pennant-winning White Sox.

Boss Optimistic

Richards seems optimistic, however, basing it on the youth parade, which is going to get a real chance to make it this year. "We're hoping," says the slow-talking, drawling Texan, "that our pitching and defense can make the lack of power a little less fatal for us. I think we've improved our punch with Jackie Brandt and the improvement men like Willie Tasby and Brooks Robinson should show."

The Oriole pitching, under Richards, always has been the club's strong point and Richards is optimistic that the pitching will be good.

"Our pitching," Paul says, "could turn out to be pretty good. The nucleus is in our kids, all under 22, plus the presence of some old hands like Skinny Brown and Hoyt Wilhelm."

Front-Line

The front-line pitchers will be Milt Pappas, a recent bridegroom; Jerry Walker, rookie hero last year; Jack Fisher, Chuck Estrada and either Billy Hoelt or Arnold Portocarrero.

Fisher, despite a 1-6 record with Baltimore last year in a part of a season, is rated one of the top prospects on the club. Hoelt, a one-time Tiger blazer, is one of the Oriole problems. Richards says his poor showing last year was because he was "strictly wild."

Portocarrero, once sought by several clubs, also had a bad year. Richards says of him: "I don't know if he'll be better than he ever was but I'm sure he's not as bad as he showed last year. He might have been just a little too much satisfied and maybe didn't work as hard as he should have."

Albie Pearson (Outfielder) and Gene Green (Catcher)

Estrada In Arms

Estrada, a right-handed with a fine minor league record with Vancouver, is expected to be released from the Army in late March and he's being counted on as a starter. Richards also expects Rip Coleman, who spent part of last year with Kansas City, to help the club on the firing line.

The big experiment, of course, will be in the infield. At the moment, Ron Hansen, the smooth fielder, will go to shortstop and Richards hopes he can hit enough to stay there. "He has power," Richards says,

"and his fielding is adequate."

At second, two rookies, Marv Breeding, who hit .288 at Vancouver, and Jerry Adair, who batted .309 with Amarillo, are giving it a real go. Breeding has had more experience and played winter ball.

Richards is looking for a first-baseman who can drive in 90 runs. He may be Jim Gentile, a minor league slugger who was with the Dodgers but never quite made it in the majors.

Brandt Adds Power

Jackie Brandt, brought over from the Giants, will add power to the outfield. Brandt and Gene Woodling are pretty well set, with the right field spot a battle among Willie Tasby, the rookie last year; Al Pilarcik, and Albie Pearson, the pint-sized ex-Senator.

Also in the picture, finally, is the $100,000 bonus beauty, Dave Nicholson, who hit 35 homers for Aberdeen last year and is described by Richards as "being well on his way."

Gene Green, from the Cards, can do catching duty as well as play in the outfield.

CAPSULE COMMENT

On Baltimore Orioles

Finish last year—Sixth.

Pitching—Could be good, with youthful staff.

Infield—Problem, experimenting with youth.

Power—Gus Triandos, maybe help from Jim Gentile and Dave Nicholson.

Defense—Improved.

Prospects—May make first division.

The Daily Investor

Learning About Stocks

Q. It is usually fairly easy to get information about stocks traded on stock exchanges. An investor can write to companies for their annual reports and get information from the statistical manuals, such as Standard & Poor's, Fitch and Moody.

But how does one get information about stocks traded in the over-the-counter market? Must he rely on his broker? Suppose the broker doesn't know anything about a stock the investor might be interested in?

A. You can get information about stocks traded in the over-the-counter market by the same method you use to find out about stocks listed on securities exchanges.

The steps you outline are good ones. Write to the company for its latest annual report and any recent quarterly or semi-annual report. Those reports will give you good background information on any company.

If any company doesn't send you reports when you ask for them, stop right there and forget about investing in that company's stock. Any company that refuses to send out reports to potential investors is usually a poor choice for the average investor.

Then get additional information from the statistical manuals you mention. Those manuals are found in most brokerage offices. They give unbiased material about almost all stocks. If the manuals have on information about the stock you are interested in, it's a cinch that the stock isn't very well known. If you buy that kind, you take on added risk.

Besides these steps, you can get information and reports from your brokerage firm. There is often just as much data available on stocks traded in the over-the-counter market as there is on stocks traded on securities exchanges.

Q. I am a 29-year-old man. I am single and have a gross income of $11,000 a year. My net income is sharply reduced by a mortgage and life insurance and $1,500 in a savings account. I increase my savings periodically.

In January, 1958, I started to buy stocks through the Monthly Investment Plan. I am purchasing nine "different" stocks—putting $40 into each every three months. In the months of January, April, July and October, I acquire fractional shares of American Telephone & Telegraph, Du Pont and Union Carbide; in February, May, August and November, General Motors, International Business Machines and Eastman Kodak; and in March, June, September and December, Consolidated Edison, General Electric and Aluminum Co. of America.

As you can see, I invest $120 a month, or $1,440 a year. Do you think I am embarked on a sound program? Is there a possibility I may be too diversified?

A. You ask for an opinion on your investment program. The only answer you can get is that you have a cracker-jack program going for you.

You are buying a good group of quality stocks. What's even more important, you are purchasing them in a very sound way. By using the Monthly Investment Plan to dollar-average—putting a fixed amount of money into the same securities at fixed intervals—you have taken the guesswork out of investing.

Because of this and because of the high caliber of the stocks you are buying, you have little (if anything) to worry about as far as over diversification goes.

You have a good program. Stay with it.

And I promise not to reveal your name and address to all the young ladies who write in and ask.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

S/Sgt. Arthur Moeller

Recruiter Graduated By Marines

GRADUATED from Recruiters' School at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., was Marine S/Sgt. Arthur A. Moeller, son of Mrs. Agnes Moeller and husband of the former Miss Alberta J. Silfee, all of Route 3, East Stroudsburg.

He will assume duties as a recruiter in Cleveland, Ohio.

Before entering the service in January 1953, he graduated from East Stroudsburg High School.

The Marine Corps' only school for recruiters consists of six weeks training in such subjects as enlistment requirements, salesmanship, typing, public speaking, publicity, community relations, operation of a recruiting substation, and military ceremonies.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House-Senate committee which investigated the 1959 Pittston mine disaster completed its business yesterday by returning $9,806 to the state.

The committee had received an appropriation of $50,000 to finance the study of the disaster which took 12 lives.

The victims were entombed in a mine operated by the Knox Coal Co., Jan. 22, 1959 when flood waters of the Susquehanna River breached a mine shaft. Legislation revising state mining laws was recommended by the committee after its investigation.

The committee said testimony and exhibits from hearings were transmitted to the State Justice Department. All other records, it said, including minutes, notes and financial material, have been placed in the custody of the Senate librarian.

The stations are subject to FCC regulations, but Doerfer, in an emotional defense of his actions, said he checked first and found that none of them had any proceeding pending before the commission.

"My conscience," he declared, "is perfectly clear."

Park Concession Bids Sought

MAURICE K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, announced yesterday that bids for food and refreshment concessions in Big Pocono and Tobyhanna State Parks will be opened March 15.

Argentine Naval Officers Sure Two Subs Were Active In Golfo Nuevo Last Month

Editor's Note—Was that really a submarine the Argentine navy was chasing in the Golfo Nuevo last month? There seems to be fairly general agreement now that there was one—and perhaps two—in those waters. Argentine naval officers are irked about the skepticism. In the following dispatch, Roman Jimenez, of the AP's Buenos Aires bureau, who went to the scene during the hunt, gives the latest assessment of the situation, together with the various theories.

THOMAS W. Mitchell, a Democratic party worker last night urged all persons of voting age to register to vote in the coming election.

Mitchell added all members of Gideon Lodge 145, Euclid Square Club, Monroe Elks 513, Flamingo Club, Modernistic Club, Pyramid Club and sportsmen clubs are requested to register if they have not already done so.

Anyone desiring to register and does not have transportation or needs a baby sitter call LY 5-2342, he said.

Registration must be completed in the County Commissioners' office, at the Monroe Court House, before 9 p.m. today.

Berle Urges Style Racket Abandonment

CHICAGO (AP) — Adolph A. Berle, law professor and former New Deal official, Sunday suggested "abandonment of the style racket in cars and household appliances" as a start in improving efficiency of America's economy.

Prof. Berle of Columbia University's law school said colleges and universities should prepare the nation for planned economy to supplant an economic system which he says is based upon advertising techniques.

He said the nation needs an economy based on permanent, lasting values agreed upon by the community "under the guidance of the best thinking available to it."

Waste, Not Service

"A good beginning would be abandonment of the style racket in cars and household appliances which organize waste rather than provide honest service," Berle told educators.

After enumerating values which he said should be given high priority in this country, he suggested "providing a place where certain decisions can be made. The decisions settle what activities are most important, what are less important."

"We are at long last learning that this cannot and will not be decently done by Madison Avenue, or smart sales campaigns, or political quackery."

Berle, a former advisor to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and onetime ambassador to Brazil, addressed the opening general session of the Conference on Higher Education, sponsored by the Assn. for Higher Education.

Barrett Community Club Told Of Hairdressing

BARRETT — Matthew and Nicholas, Scranton hairdressers, were the featured speakers at the recent meeting of the Barrett Community Club.

The two—proprietors of a beauty salon in Scranton—gave a short history of hairdressing among both women and men.

Following their talk, the two men introduced models whose hair had been set and styled by their operators in their Stroudsburg shop.

Guests

During the meeting, guests introduced were Mrs. Elsie Moffett, Denise Quinn, Mrs. David Guthrie, Mrs. Nelson Stern, Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. William Quarrelly and Mrs. William Pickett.

Receipts from the recent card-party, it was announced, were $57 to date.

It was reported that tickets for the coming April Food Talent Night to be held at Buck Hill Auditorium are now on sale.

A fashion show will be held Friday, June 24, at the auditorium.

The next meeting of the club will be April 13, at the YMCA.

Big Snowdrifts Await Explorer

NEWFOUNDLAND — The people of this resort area are well known for the warmth of their welcome. "They go 'all out' to make a visitor feel right at home in the Pocono Mountains."

True to form, everything is in readiness for Ben Ferrier, the Antrim Bureau speaker coming on Tuesday to Southern Wayne Joint School. Snowdrifts up to five feet deep are ready and waiting.

The visitor to this area is an explorer from the land of the Eskimos, and will speak to SWJS students on what life is like in the Land of the Big Snow.

BIRD IN THE HAND

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — Gerald Line wonders if a $2 parakeet is really worth a $9 vacuum cleaner hose. Line's 12-year-old daughter, Patricia, was cleaning a rug when the family parakeet, Baby, was sucked through the nozzle. Firemen cut the hose and rescued one shaky—but clean—bird.

gentina that greeted official announcements that a submarine had been detected in the little gulf on Argentina's south Atlantic coast.

A ranking admiral in the Argentine navy said privately that one foreign submarine still was lurking off the coast last week. He had just returned from the gulf area.

The admiral concurred with President Arturo Frondizi, who told a news conference while President Eisenhower was visiting last Sunday that an alien submarine had been in the gulf, which Argentina claims as territorial waters.

Frondizi declined to speculate on the nationality. But Argentine naval officers said privately it was a fast, new Soviet submarine. The Soviet Union and all other naval powers denied they had a submarine operating in the Argentine area.

Skepticism arose because the Argentine navy has chased phantom submarines before. And the Argentine navy this time prevented reporters from watching antisubmarine operations.

The U.S. Navy sent down experts to help the Argentine navy in the search. Some of these men who were available to comment privately were convinced this time it was no phantom.

Some domestic critics of the navy said the announcement of a submarine in the gulf was the result of errors in reading sonar contacts. Some went further and claimed the Argentine navy only wanted to support its case for getting more funds.

Reporters who went to Puerto Madryn, a town on the shore of Golfo Nuevo, talked with officers and crew of the score of Argentine ships taking part in the operation. They reported the navy men were convinced a submarine—not a whale—was in the gulf.

"At one time," one captain told reporters, "we clearly detected the sub near our frigate. We let go all seven of our remaining depth charges. But the sub's captain seemed to know that we had no more left, because he slowly crept to our side, as shown by our radar markings. We could do nothing against it then."

Other officers said they had damaged a submarine in the gulf and it had shown technical prowess by finally escaping into the Atlantic.

One informant quoted an unidentified foreign naval attaché as saying that what the Argentines actually were chasing was a new Soviet weapon, a tiny anti-submarine.

This was the version attributed to the attaché: this 100-submarine, perhaps little more than seven feet long, navigates by remote control. On sonar and radar it appears to be a much larger submarine. The anti-submarine has instruments to gather information about the sea bottom.

Equipment Obsolete

A common complaint of the Argentine officers was that their ships and armaments are obsolete and unable to cope with a modern submarine they said could make 21 knots submerged.

If there was a submarine there, what was its mission?

There is no official explanation. But semi-official sources say the submarine might have been surveying the Patagonian coast of southern Argentina.

They gave this theory: In event of war, the sea routes between the Pacific and Atlantic oceans would be a prime strategic objective. The Panama Canal would be a primary enemy target. If the canal were knocked out, the only other practical connection would be through the Strait of Magellan or farther south around Cape Horn.

Joint Committee Meets Wednesday

SWIFTWATER — The Joint School Committee of the Pocono Mountain Joint School District will meet in regular session Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Paradise Township School, Swiftwater.

All members are urged to attend the meeting.

Series Of 3 Services To Open Tuesday

UNDER the direction of the commission of membership and evangelism of which David W. Powell is the commission chairman, and by unanimous action of the official board, three services for spiritual enrichment have been planned for the members and friends of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church. These services will be held tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday.

On Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., Dr. Prince M. Collins, district superintendent of the north district of the Philadelphia Conference, will be the speaker. Paul Bartholomew will direct the singing, and a mixed quartet from the church choir of the church—Rachel Sarley, soprano; Janet Vogel, alto; Milton Possinger, tenor, and Jerry Gartner, bass, will provide the special singing. To this service special invitation has been given to all official members, teachers, class and organization leaders.

Youth Service

On Wednesday, an "all youth" night will be held. Two young men who have entered the ministry from the East Stroudsburg Church and possibly a third will be present to bring brief messages to the young people on "Why I Am A Christian." They are Rev. David W. Powell and Rev. M. Kenneth Heckman, and possibly Rev. Charles Whittaker. Robert Bullock will be the song leader and special music will be provided by the Youth for Christ Chorus. All young people of the church, their parents and friends are especially invited.

In preparation for this service, under the direction of Miss Barbara Hartman director of religious education, the young people have been meeting for prayer and meditation each Friday morning for the past four weeks.

On Thursday, the concluding service provides as the speaker, Dr. F. Lewis Walley, pastor of the Asbury Allentown Methodist Church. Dr. Walley will preach on the theme, "Compelling Christianity." The song leader for the service will be Dr. Donald Corson and the soloist, Shimer Kubick.

Finch Jury Asks Replay Of Testimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch's accounts of shooting his wife to death are coming back to haunt—or help him, his mistress, Carolyn Tregoff.

The rich, sports-loving surgeon is hearing along with the jurors who hold his life in their hands, his thousands of words about Barbara Jean Finch's shooting read aloud.

The jury suddenly asked, after deliberating several hours Saturday to hear once more everything the doctor said about last July 18—the day of the slaying—and the next morning.

Dr. Finch, 42, and the 23-year-old divorcee who once worked in his medical clinic are charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the shooting of Mrs. Finch, 35, outside the Finch's expensive home in suburban West Covina. He has maintained the shooting was an accident; the prosecution charges it was a murder plot inspired by money greed.

400 Pages

The rereading in open court to conform with California law, involves an estimated 400 pages of transcript containing 80,000 words—equal to a fair-sized novel.

The jurors asked to hear what Dr. Finch said under both direct questioning and cross-examination as well as in a statement to police July 20 at Las Vegas, Nev., after his arrest.

Another jury request—for a pistol and surgical gloves—was turned down by Judge Walter R. Evans because the items were not in evidence. The prosecutor says the defendants both wore gloves at the slaying scene; the defense says the gloves were used only for play with the Finch dog.

The jury took Sunday off. It got the case Friday but pondered only 90 minutes that day. Saturday it worked from 3:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., with time out for lunch.

63 Pages

When the jurors were sent to their hotel Saturday, they had heard 63 of the 400 pages read.

During the reading Dr. Finch sat frowning in concentration; Miss Tregoff sat expressionless.

The Las Vegas statement contained discrepancies from Dr. Finch's trial testimony. He told officers he did not know his wife was dead until he returned to Las Vegas. He said he had thrown away a gun a month or two previously—the weapon the prosecution contends was the death weapon. It never has been found.

Ex-Maryland Governor Dies

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Herbert R. O'Connor, twice governor of Maryland and an outspoken opponent of Communism during his six years in the U. S. Senate, died Friday. He was 63. He was hospitalized Thursday for treatment of a heart condition that troubled him for the last three years. Death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage.

O'Connor, a handsome Irish Democrat with an infectious grin, became a power in Maryland politics largely through his gift of oratory and ability to make friends.

Born in Baltimore, he became a police and court reporter for the Baltimore Sun after his graduation from the University of Maryland Law School. After a short time he was appointed an assistant state's attorney, and, at the age of 25, began his career of public service.

Bridge Play Interferes With Service

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Eight hundred persons at 200 bridge tables went on playing bridge here Sunday after a preacher demanded that police stop them.

A man who identified himself as the Rev. Stuart McGregor told police that too many of his parishioners were playing in the Texas regional bridge tournament and he wanted it stopped.

The Rev. McGregor raised a point of Texas law covering card playing in public places. Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he would look into the matter Monday—and returned to his own domino game.

The tournament at a downtown hotel ends Sunday. Bridge tournament official Kenneth Stone of Dallas chortled: "Eight hundred people is a whole lot of people to run into jail."

Coyne Funeral Rites Conducted

FUNERAL services for Mrs. Catharine Tobin Coyne, 90, of 519 Brown St., Stroudsburg, were held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. with a requiem mass at St. Luke's Church, Stroudsburg.

Revs. Harold Durkin, Francis Barrett and John Esseff officiated. Interment was in Cathedral Cemetery, Scranton.

Palbearers were G. E. Shanley Jr., G. E. Shanley III, Paul Shanley, Thomas Shanley, Thomas Leonard Jr., and John Bowhan.

The William R. Thomas Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hunt East Bangor, Dies At 72

EAST BANGOR — Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hunt, 72, widow of Luther Hunt, Dewey St., East Bangor, died Saturday at the Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Born in Delabole, England, she was the daughter of the late John and Susanna Prout Beers.

She had retired in 1945 after being employed for many years by the Blue Ridge Textile Co., Bangor.

Mrs. Hunt was a member of Grace Lutheran Church, East Bangor.

Five Children — Her survivors include three daughters: Mrs. J. Lloyd Roberts of Bangor, Mrs. Lester Wildrick of East Bangor, and Mrs. Gilbert Heyer of Easton; two sons, Melvin Hunt of Stroudsburg RD 4, and Harvey Hunt of East Bangor; one sister, Mrs. George Vosper of Bangor; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Pullis Funeral Home, Pen Argyl, with Rev. Paul Yousse officiating.

Interment will be in the East Bangor Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday after 7 p.m.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Liquor Control Board will ban cover charges in night clubs and restaurants holding state liquor licenses.

In a new regulation filed with the office of the Commonwealth Secretary, the board ruled out any cover charge, "or other fee, price or levy for which a patron receives neither food nor beverages of commensurate value."

Another provision in the new regulations, which become effective May 2, allows minimum charges in liquor establishments but requires all purchases including alcoholic drinks, to be credited against such charges. It also prohibits admission charges to licenses including restaurants and hotels, but exempts clubs where legal liquor sales are limited to members.

Acting as chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. T. Manning Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Serfass.

The voting was done by the students who cast their ballots a penny at a time and the money went for overseas Ys to use.

Bridge tournament official Kenneth Stone of Dallas chortled: "Eight hundred people is a whole lot of people to run into jail."

Evangelist Rejects Challenge For Faith Healing Contest

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said Sunday he has refused to consider a challenge for a faith healing contest to test the powers of the Christian and Islamic religions.

The proposal was made two days ago by Sheikh Mubarak Ahmad, chief of the East African Moslem mission of Ahmadiyya, an aggressive missionary society.

He suggested 30 incurables be selected and that Graham and six of his followers pray over 15 while the Sheikh and six followers prayed for the recovery of the other 15.

The result, the Sheikh said, would determine "who is blessed with the Lord's grace and mercy and upon whom His door remains closed."

In his first public comment on the challenge, Graham said, he had discussed the challenge with prominent members of the Nairobi Moslem community.

"I have talked with several Moslem leaders who inform me that Ahmadiyya is a group which does not represent responsible Moslem thought," the evangelist said in an interview. "Christ was once challenged by Satan to perform a spectacular feat in order to prove His deity. He answered by saying, 'Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.'"

Graham added he had received a number of messages from the United States urging him to accept the challenge but he said he will not do so.

Closes Crusade — He closed his crusade in Kenya Sunday with a service before 14,000 people. His sermon was relayed by radio to 11 other cities in Kenya and Uganda. About 300 persons made decisions for Christ. He now goes to Ethiopia.

Many Utilities Offer Low Rates

HEATING with electricity is no longer regarded as a luxury in many parts of the country.

Today, more and more electric utility companies are encouraging this modern method of heating in new and remodeled homes by providing special, low electric rates.

This means that when a house is properly insulated and adequately wired, the cost of electricity for heating compares favorably with other types of heating.

Proper insulation is of such importance to economical electric heating that some utilities refuse to grant lower rates to electrically-heated houses without it.

The preferred insulation today for electric heating is a 6-inch thickness of mineral wool in the ceiling, a minimum of 3 inches in walls, and at least 2 inches in floors over unheated areas.

Among the advantages of electricity are cleanliness, since no fuel is burned to cause soot or fumes, and control of temperatures in individual rooms. It is particularly ideal for remodeling, since no ductwork or pipes are needed.

Wheeee

now playtex brings you a fabulous new bra fabric holds its shape month after month

playtex cotton-pretty bra

Now you can see on TV how actual tests at Good Housekeeping Institute confirm that this new bra holds its shape month after month. It's a special blend of cotton and dacron created for the new Playtex Cotton-Pretty Bra. Even after 65 machine washings it won't become limp, shrunken or shapeless. And all new Playtex Cotton-Pretty bra lasts longer—smooth without ironing—softer—absorbs like cotton. You'll wear it longer—you'll love it longer—than any bra you ever wore. White only. 32A-40C. Only $2.50.
